Starting a Conversation

A Social Story About
Talking and Listening Together

1

I Notice Someone Is Available

I look for someone who is not busy, upset, or already speaking.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I Choose a Topic

A shared book, activity, place, or interest can be a conversation topic.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I Find Comfortable Space

I move close enough to communicate while respecting personal space.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I Greet the Person

I say hello, wave, smile, or use another greeting.

Ask Together

What words, pictures, or gestures could you use?

I Make a Comment

I share one short thought about the topic.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I Ask a Related Question

I ask a question connected to what we are discussing.

Ask Together

What words, pictures, or gestures could you use?

I Listen to the Answer

I wait and pay attention in the way that works for me.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

Short answers, looking away, or returning to work may mean the person is finished.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I End Kindly

I can say goodbye, thank you, or see you later.

Ask Together

What could you do during this step?

I started, shared, listened, and ended the conversation respectfully.
