

EVERYBUNNY TALKS AAC

People Words & Ownership

Visual Communication Pack 33 | 12 printable cards

How to use these cards

- Print at Actual Size or Fit to Page. Cardstock is optional.
- Cut along the dotted borders. Laminate or add hook-and-loop dots if helpful.
- Begin with a few useful cards, model their meaning, and keep them easy to reach.
- Honor communication whenever safely possible and use the cards alongside speech, signs, or a communication device as appropriate.

User license and important information

These supportive visual materials are not medical advice, diagnosis, therapy, emergency communication, or a replacement for qualified professional services.

Copyright © 2026 Pink Bunny Co. For personal, household, or single-classroom use. Do not resell, redistribute, publicly post, or upload the digital files to shared drives. Original Pink Bunny Co. visual communication materials; not affiliated with or endorsed by PECS or Pyramid Educational Consultants.

Using people words in real life

The Friends illustrate a meaning. They do not limit who can use a card. I and me mean the person communicating; you means the person being addressed.

I / ME	Both refer to myself. I go. Help me.
YOU	The person or people I am communicating with. You choose.
WE	Myself and at least one other person. We read.
THEY	Other people, or one person who uses they. They go.
HE / SHE	A person using that pronoun. He reads. She draws.
IT	A thing already identified, such as the ball. It rolls.
MY	Belonging to me. My book.
YOUR	Belonging to the person I am addressing. Your book.
OUR	Belonging to me and someone else. Our book.
THEIR	Belonging to other people or one person using they. Their book.

Try it together - not as a test

Hold your own book and model my book. Refer to the other person's book and model your book. When the communicator changes, my and your change too. These words can describe many things, not only books.

Use each person's pronouns; do not guess from appearance. They/their can refer to one person or a group. Add personally relevant words or photos. The examples use some words not included in this starter pack.

Offer these as optional supports. Respect all communication, including gestures, refusals, and requests to stop. These original cards are not a complete AAC system or a PECS training program.

People Words & Ownership - Cut-Apart Cards

Print at 100% | Cut along the dashed guides | Laminate if helpful

I

ME

YOU

WE

People Words & Ownership - Cut-Apart Cards

Print at 100% | Cut along the dashed guides | Laminate if helpful

THEY

HE

SHE

IT

People Words & Ownership - Cut-Apart Cards

Print at 100% | Cut along the dashed guides | Laminate if helpful

MY

YOUR

OUR

THEIR